Slim Barber and Loyd Pearson were our judges for the earth science entries in the Lansing Area Youth Talent Show. They selected these two winners for the CML&MS Awards:

Jeff Kester, a twelve-year old student at Walter French Junior High for his study of volcanoes.

Cyndy Fast, an eighteen-year old Senior at Bath High School, for her display of fossils, distinctive because so many had been found in the Haslett area.

Congratulations to these young people!

WHAT'S THIS?—A quick guess might be that these are building blocks. That would be wrong. Marshmallows? Equally wrong, but getting closer, it is edible. If you've thrown in the towel, the answer is table salt greatly magnified by the electron scanning microscope at a research laboratory.
